

Lender Center for Social Justice

Jibril Barrie '26
Major: Industrial Design

"Lender Global made my time in London into something much more meaningful. I got to explore the U.K., dive into a personal research project, and experience social justice issues firsthand. Honestly, it's a no-brainer if you're studying abroad."

Gabrielle McCafferty '25
Dual Major: Biology and Psychology

"As a biologist, the Lender Global Project helped me learn how to communicate relatively scientific findings in new formats, so that more people can understand and learn from my research!"

Jude Bazerman '26
Dual Major: Broadcast & Digital Journalism, Geography

"I was given the resources to research climate inequalities in London, which gave me the opportunity to explore areas of London that I would have never seen."

Lender Global is a partnership between the Lender Center and Syracuse Abroad.

This initiative aims to deepen Syracuse University's commitment to "preparing citizens, scholars, and leaders for participation in a changing global society" by highlighting social justice issues and themes in a global context for students studying abroad.

Why apply for Lender Global?

Each academic year, a Syracuse Abroad Center is designated as the "Lender Global Partner." This partner center selects a specific social justice theme and develops programming to engage students in both scholarship and action related to that theme.

- Immerse yourself in social justice research, while experiencing a new culture and language firsthand.
- Connect with global experts and local communities, creating future career pathways and internship opportunities.
- Drive real global change through research that informs critical worldwide discussions.
